

Student _____ Week of _____

I will do what my teacher asks, even if I think my friends need my help. It is okay to tell the teacher when I am nervous about something, but I need to let the teacher handle it. If I get too nervous or become upset about something going on that I think is unfair, I will ask for a break. If a break doesn't work, I can ask to meet with my Teacher of Record. She will help me figure out what to do. I will not be in trouble for trying to work it out with my teacher. I cannot cry, argue, or lay my head down when I am upset in class. If I feel like I need to do these things, I will go to the resource room to do them. I do not want to embarrass myself in class or at work. I want to show the world I have good adult behavior.

Did I demonstrate adult behavior in class by not crying, arguing, or laying down in class?
